Dust Control: Emergency Construction United States. Army. Corps of Engineers,1964

PM10 Research for Developing Educational Tools and Outreach Programs Peter M. Lima,2003 More than 3 million persons reside in Maricopa County, Arizona, one of the fastest growing urban areas in the country. The urbanized portion of the county has been designated a nonattainment area for PM10, by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for levels of particulate matter that exceed the National Ambient Air Quality Standards. In response, Maricopa County has enacted Rule 310 that contains measures to mitigate the generation of fugitive dust. Construction activities are estimated to generate nearly 40% of airborne particulates in the area. The Arizona Department of Transportation contracted with Lima & Associates and Cathy D. Arthur to develop an educational outreach program with the purpose of training construction industry personnel on the importance of controlling fugitive dust and the methods of so doing. This report summarizes the background leading up to the enactment of Rule 310 and the subsequent development of the outreach program. Elements of the program are described, and an implementation plan is provided. This report is accompanied by appendices that contain prototype elements of the training program that have been developed. These prototypes are intended to illustrate the results of the research only, and are not current training instruments.

Gravel Roads Ken Skorseth,2000 The purpose of this manual is to provide clear and helpful information for maintaining gravel roads. Very little technical help is available to small agencies that are responsible for managing these roads. Gravel road maintenance has traditionally been more of an art than a science and very few formal standards exist. This manual contains guidelines to help answer the questions that arise concerning gravel road maintenance such as: What is enough surface crown? What is too much? What causes corrugation? The information is as nontechnical as possible without sacrificing clear guidelines and instructions on how to do the job right.

Dust Control Handbook for Industrial Minerals Mining and Processing Andrew B. Andrew B. Cecala, Andrew D. Andrew D. O'Brien, 2015-05-09 Throughout the mining and processing of minerals, the mined ore undergoes a number of crushing, grinding, cleaning, drying, and product sizing operations as it is processed into a marketable commodity. These operations are highly mechanized, and both individually and collectively these processes can generate large amounts of dust. If control technologies are inadequate, hazardous levels of respirable dust may be liberated into the work environment, potentially exposing workers. Accordingly, federal regulations are in place to limit the respirable dust exposure of mine workers. Engineering controls are implemented in mining operations in an effort to reduce dust generation and limit worker exposure.

Introduction to Construction Management Fred Sherratt, 2015-01-09 Management in the construction industry is a complex task, with team members often undertaking hazardous work, complying with stacks of regulations and legal requirements, and under the constant threat of plans going awry, however there is no need for all construction management textbooks to be so complicated. Starting with a general overview of the industry, Introduction to Construction Management is the beginner's guide to key concepts, terms, processes and practices associated with modern construction management in the UK. Supported by diagrams, illustrations and case studies, this book explores construction management from a variety of perspectives, including: Production management Commercial management Quality management Health and Safety management Environmental management Also incorporated are important industry trends including sustainability, corporate social responsibility, and the advent of BIM. This is the most approachable text available for anyone starting to learn about construction management, at HNC/HND, FdSc, or BSc level.

Cal/OSHA Pocket Guide for the Construction Industry, 2015-01-05 The Cal/OSHA Pocket Guide for the Construction Industry is a handy guide for workers, employers, supervisors, and safety personnel. This latest 2011 edition is a quick field reference that summarizes selected safety standards from the California Code of Regulations. The major subject headings are alphabetized and cross-referenced within the text, and it has a detailed index. Spiral bound, 8.5 x 5.5

Control of Dust from Construction and Demolition Activities Vina Kukadia, Stuart Upton, David Hall, 2010-11 This publication deals with the common and well-recognized problem of control of nuisance dust emissions from construction and civil engineering activities. Fine particles can be carried from sites even in light winds and may have an adverse effect on the local environment and on the health of local residents, as well as those working on site. It indicates how dust and fine particle generation from construction and demolition activities can be substantially reduced. Dust control measures are outlined for specific processes (such as the movement of vehicles and construction plant, materials handling and storage, cutting, grinding, grouting, grit blasting, concrete batching and pouring), and advice is also given on pre-project planning, implementation and site management - together with checklists for use by all sizes and types of construction activity.
